The Intelligencer argues that the Ordinance of Secession was defeated by the Louisiana Convention and the returns suppressed by secessionists, and that one-fourth of the people did not vote at all, even if the ordinance was adopted

The Republican says that the only power vested in the Virginia Convention is the privilege of submitting to the people an ordinance of secession for their approval or rejection, and that the people are much more likely to decide wisely than the members of a convention overawed by the populace of a city.

WOULD THAT IT WERE TRUE!-The New York Commercial Advertiser says that Jefferson Davis has given orders that if the Government sends a vessel into Charleston harbor merely to bear provisions to the garrison in Fort Sumter, she is not garchic authorities have violated their pledge that Anderson should be permitted to purchase provisions in Charleston if the Government would refrain from attempting to reinforce him, if there is anything like true honor and good faith left in their breasts, Davis may well have issued the order mentioned above. When they gave the pledge, they knew well that it was in the Government's power to have reinforced Anderson at will, and to crush out all forcible opposition to its authority in Charleston harbor, as easily as a strong man may crush an egg shell. Hence the pledge was given, and the condition exacted from the Government. But the instant the Oligarchy's preparations for assailing Sumter were completed, Anderson was notified that the pledge would no longer be observed.

The bad faith involved in the train of circumstances making it probable that within twentyfour hours we shall have news of the commencement in Charleston barbor of the direst calamity -civil war-that ever the world experienced, is therefore on the part of the Oligarchy. It is so signally and grossly an act of bad faith on their part, as that no pretense designed to conceal it can possibly succeed anywhere, in this or any Her house, she says, is known all over Europe for other country.

It also makes plain the fact that the Oligarchy have left the Government no other alternative save either to let Anderson's command starve, or to withdraw it under circumstances wherein will be involved an acknowledgment of the justice and legality of the usurpation of the government of the South on its part, which the President has no lawful right whatever to accord.

It has clearly been the evident aim of the Government to preserve the status of affairs in Charleston harbor, and throughout the seceded States, precisely as they were when the pledge was given that Anderson should be permitted to obtain provisious if the Government would make no attempt to reinforce him. In no way whatever did the Goverament violate its faith in this matter. It adhered to it so strictly as that all the world perceived and acknowledged its determination to take no steps likely to result in a collision, ere the difficulty might be remitted to the arbitrament of a new Congress or to the people of the several States acting in their sovereign capacity.

Under these circumstances, and in view of the further fact that the Oligarchy have notoriously been straining every nerve to prepare to assail Anderson's command as speedily as possible, (while the Government did not raise a finger to reinforce him, or even to send him a barrel of supplies, until Beauregard notified him that he should get no more provisions,) no amount of misrepresentation can possibly create on the minds of any, the idea that the Government at this point is responsible for the fearful events in Charleston harbor, news of which may be momentarily expected, as

INDIGNANTLY RETIRED -It is well known that for some weeks three respectable gentlemen-Messrs Forsyth, Crawford and Roman-have been in Washington in the capacity of commissioners or envoys extraordinary from the seceded States, and that their ostensible object was to effect a treaty for a permanent division of those States J. P. Elton, Waterbury, Conn. 15,000 3-100 pr from the Union, the recognition of their independence by the Federal Government, and an adjustment of the territorial estate and other matters connected with the national partnership. No one supposed they seriously entertained the idea that they would be successful in their mission; in fact, they could not have expected it themselves. But they nevertheless went to work, as if in earnest, and delicately foreshadowed their purposes to the Administration. If we are to believe the statements which have reached us, the Secretary of State, for the Government, following the example In the case of the South Carolina Commissioners, has courteously informed them that they cannot be received in a diplomatic or official character. Several notes passed; so, at last, they fired a huge shot at the Administration, accusing it of per- S. Hooper, himself and others, adity, charging that, if civil war resulted from this non-compliance with their unreasonable and illegal demands, on the head of the Administration will rest the awful responsibility; and, it is further stated, they express the firm conviction that war is inevitable. Having thus relieved themselves, they yesterday left Washington, bound for Montgomery, to make their oral representations, we suppose, to the government at that

As they did not-could not-have anticipated successful termination of their mission, we are at a loss to conceive why they should be chagrined. The Administration was not disposed to be inely frightened at any amount of threats consequent on the failure of their diplomacy.

We merely allude to the facts-they carry their own comments. As, however, to the responsibility for civil war, should it lamentably result, all right-thinking people will attribute it to those who precipitated revolution, set all laws at deflance, seized the public property, and placed their military "house in order" even before President Lincoln was officially declared duly elected ! The fighting condition was initiated by the secoded States-on their head will be the responsibility.

REMOVED -Mr. James S. French, of Va., has been removed from his position of an Examiner in the Patent Office, ($2,500 per annum.)

RICHMOND .- There is now no Union paper published in Richmond, Virginia, the Whig being as fully in the interest of disunion as either the Enquirer, Examiner or Dispatch. To place it in that position its late editor was removed from its tripod, as we explained some days since. Its game is to publish versions of passing events, &c., likely to aid the disunion cause in the Virginia Convention, while carefully refraining from making a public announcement of the fact that it no longer sympathizes directly or indirectly with the Union cause. Mr. Ridgeway was removed from its control that its double dealing game might be played just as it has been played, to the best advantage for the disunion cause. Until the friends of the Union in Virginia come to a general knowledge of these facts, it may be expected that the current insidious labors of the Whig will aid the disunion cause not a little.

THE PROSPECT OF PRACE.-Without having definite information to that effect, it is clear from what we hear around us, that the President believes that Jefferson Davis has saved the honor of the Oligarchy in the matter of food for Anderson's command, by directing that the vessel bearing him supplies shall be permitted to perform her errand unmolested. If this should prove to be the case, the country will instantly breathe freely again; as all danger of speedy collision will have instantly vanished.

Per contra .- We are very sure that yesterday a dispatch was received in this city from General Beauregard, saying that in the course of the day be should make a formal demand on Anderson to by Mr. King very soon, and steam will probably evacuate Sumter, and if it was not acceded to, he should attack it without awaiting the arrival of to be hurriedly got ready. The Wabash is in the provisions-bearing vessel.

BIDS FOR THE TREASURY NOTES -The offers for Treasury notes received at the Department, under the late notice, were opened yesterday. The amount called for was $4.099,000 The offers made amounted to $5,340,000-being $439,000 in excess of the required amount. The bids ranged from par to 27-100 premium.

It is well known that the money market is the most sensitive barometer of the political atmosphere, and while the rates and amount offered were doubtless affected by the rumors of difficulties, still the public confidence in the Government and the Department is evidently unshaken.

There has been some criticism upon the policy of the Secretary in accepting only the three millions offered at 94 cents and upwards, and rejecting the lower bids, under the first call for proposals for $8,000,000. The result, it would appear, has fully vindicated the wisdom of his course, by which about $350,000 has been actually saved to the Treasury.

There is no truth in the rumors about Cabinet The balance in the Treasury last Monday was $5,655,000. The receipts from customs for the two weeks ending April 9, 1860, were $1,471.241; and for the two corresponding weeks this year $1.500 667, an increase of $29,426.

Owing to other engagements, the Secretary of the Treasury was unable to open the bids for the treasury notes until after 7 o'clock this evening. These exceeded the amount of the treasury notes offered—namely, $4,910 000—by about $439,000, at rates ranging from par to 27-100 premium. The treasury is now in good condition. CLUE TO THE DESTINATION OF ONE OF THE SHIPS. At the Troy Arsenal unusual bustle has been observable within the past week. Lieut. Balch. stationed at that place, was on Friday last ordered to repair at once to Port Pickens, and report himself for duty. Singularly enough, he arrived in the city the evening before the departure of the Baltic, and left next day. How and where he went immediately from here are mysterious. Maj. Mordecai, of the North Carolina Ordnance Department, who is now nominally commander at Troy, being really absent in his native State, Lieut. Strong fills his place. There is only one other commissioned officer—Lieut. Porter. The works at the arsenal are vigorously prosecuted even on Sunday. The preparation of cartridget chiefly occupies the employees at present. Several small sailing vessels are also reported to have been chartered by Government, probably for the same purpose as those which have already been dispatched. THE NAVY YARD. There is no doubt that orders for the immediate fitting-out of the United States ships Wabash, Perry and Savannah, have been received at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The housing of the Wabash was removed yesterday, extra hands put to work on her, and preparations were made to put coal on board, which shows that the authorities are in a hurry to have her completed for commission. From the apbe applied on Saturday. The rigging, carpenter's work and ordnance, were taken in hands, fine condition, rates 40 guns, but does not carry more than 25, is 3,200 tens burthen, and was built at Philadelphia in 1855. Having been constructed of timber, fresh and green from the woods, and subsequently sent to a warm climate, she was, at one time, deemed unsound, but is now all right. She will be fit for commission in three weeks. The brig Perry, whose state of readiness is to be turned into condition for active service, will be rigged to-day. Six days will suffice to put her in duty trim. The Perry is 280 tons burden, carries 6 guns, and was built at Gosport in 1843 She has cruised on nearly every station, and was last attached to the Paraguay expedition. She can be made ready for sea in three weeks.

The corvette Savannah, now in the dry dock to be prepared also, we should judge. She can be put in the commissioned state in five weeks. The Savannah is a sailing corvette, 1,726 tons burden, is rated for 24 guns and 300 nien, and was built at Brooklyn in 1842 She was a 50-gun frigate until 1859. Her last duty was performed as flag-ship of the Home squadron, the Cumberland, now to be replaced by the Minnesota, relieving her.

The Roanoke lies at the wharf in course of repair, although the work upon her was not urgently pressed. The machinery has been taken apart, and a portion of it removed to the machine shop for alteration. With the utmost energy and celerity possible, she could not be made ready for ervice in less than twenty days. She is being caulked, and is receiving extensive repairs from the bands of the carpenters and joiners. Commodore Stringham, the newly appointed commander-in-chief of the Home Squadron, was to leave this city last night to join his ship at Boston. He could sail in less than ten days for Pensacola. The marine garrison of the Brooklyn navy-yard was to have been paid off yesterday, Maj. Russell, the disbursing officer of the Marine Corps, having been ordered from headquarters at Washington GOVERNOR'S ISLAND. Everything was quiet and dull on Governor's Island yesterday, but it is evident that another exodus of troops is imminent. The quarters are Heintzman, 1st Infantry, will take command of the Island, tice Maj Holmes, who left on Tuesday evening, until 30th of June, when Col. Smith, previously detailed for the post, will report for duty. THE CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD. About 1,200 men are under Government pay at the Charlestown navy yard at the present time. Three hundred of these are at work upon the barracks. Eight or nine bundred men are employed in getting the Minnesota and Mississippi in readiness for sea. The machinists and blacksmiths engaged in the yard work all night, in order to facilitate the business of preparing these steamers for the service assigned them. THE PHILADELPHIA NAVY YARD. At the Philadelphia navy yard the steamer Water Witch has just been put in complete sea trim She will probably sail the present week, with an unusually large crew of sailors and marines. The other vessels at the Yard are the Jamestown, 22 guns, which could be prepared for sea in ten days; and frigate St. Lawrence, 50 guns; in case of emergency she could be ready for sea in three weeks. There are 75 men on the receiving ship, and 100 marines in the barracks. THE TEXAN TROOPS. The steamship Coatzacoalcos, Griffin, left Pass Cavallo Bar on the 31st March; touched at Key West 4th inst., landed two companies of infantry. and, being unable to obtain water, proceeded to Havana. Sailed thence on the afternoon of the 6th. Has experienced very heavy gales. Left at Pass Cavallo the steamships Empire City, for New York in eight days, waiting the arrival of troops from the interior; Star of the West, walting the arrival of troops from the interior, in twenty-five days. The Coatzacoalcos sailed from this port on the 16th March; arrived at Key West 21st, and arrived at Pass Cavallo Bar 28th; sailed from thence the 31st, via Key West 4th inst , and

Havana 6th inst. The troops in Texas are in excellent health and condition, and are abundantly supplied with pro-visions and means of transportation. The Empire City would leave Indianols in about eight days with the third detachment of troops. The Star of the West would probably be detained 25 days. The number of troops left in Texas is about 1,000 men, some of whom have to perform a march of 700 miles to reach the cost

More Treason -Arms for the South-Connecticut Manufacturers Aiding the Enemy -It is reported that immense activity prevails at the pri-vate manufactories of arms in Hartford and other portions of Connecticut, and that orders from the South are constantly received and filled. At a single factory in Hartford one hundred and fifty men are working night and day, making patent rifles for the rebels of the Confederate States Great numbers of the ordinary style of Sharpe's rifles are also manufacturing in the same city. It is further reported that the orders from the military authorities of the Seceded States are of the heaviest kind. It is no unusual circumstance to receive orders for work to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars a day. These contracts, we are informed, are exclusively Southern, and we learn, moreover, that they are invariably accepted, and are now filling as rapidly as possible. It thus appears that the Confederate States, who are in rebellion against the government, still find sid and comfort from the North .- N. Y. Post.

THE STORM AND THE SOUTHERN RAILROAD .-The effect of the recent gale has been most destructive upon several of the Southern railroads. A portion of the Virginia Central Railroad, between Gordonsville and Charlottesville, was away on Tuesday night, thus interrupting the communication between Alexandria and Lynchburg. The Manassas Gap Rathroad also suffered considerably; land slides occurred at several points along its length The Richmond, Frede-ricksburg and Potomac Railroad was damaged by the storm so that communication between Aquia Creek and Fredericksburg was prevented. The mail steamer returned to Washington last evening with her passengers. Travel over this line, it is said, will not be resumed until Friday. Owing to the interruption, we have failed to receive any exchanges south of Alexandria since Monday.

MR. BUCHANAN'S HEALTH -It will be gratifying to the friends of the late President to know that the reports concerning his health that have occasionally been published have no foundation. In a letter to a friend in this city, dated at Wheatland, the 8th inst., Mr. Buchanan says: "I bave enjoyed excellent health ever since my return to this place, and have not been sick a single minute, notwithstanding what the papers says. I feel ten years younger, though time rolls on apace."

The Plet to Assassinate Mr. Lincoln. THE TRUTH OF THE STORY-HOW THE CON-

The Albany Evening Journal of Wednesday gives a complete history of the conspiracy to assass nate the President during his journey from Har-risburg to Washington. The Journal states that some of Mr. Lincoln's friends heard of the existence of a plot of this nature, and immediately employed a detective to investigate the matter The officer went to Baltimore and occupied period of three weeks in tracing the conspiracy "Soon after his arrival in that city, (says the Journal.) the detective discovered a combination of men banded together under a solemn oath to assassinate the President elect The leader of the conspirators was an Italian refugee, a barber, well known in Baltimore, who assumed the name of Orsini, as indicative of the part he was to perform. The assistants employed by the detective, who, like himself, were strangers in Baltimore city, by assuming to be secessionists from Louisiana and other seceding States, gained the confidence of some of the conspirators, and were entrusted with their plans. It was arranged in case Mr. Lincoln should pass safely over the ratiroad to Baltimore, that the conspirators should mingle with the crowd which might surround his carriage, and by pretending to be his friends, be enabled to approach his person, when, upon a signal from their leader, some of them would shoot at Mr. Lincoln with their pistols, and others would throw into his carriage hand grenades filled with detonating powder, similar to those used in the attempted assassination of the Emperor, Louis Napoleon. It was intended that in the confusion which should result from this attack, the assailants should escape to a vessel which was waiting in the barbor to receive them, and be carried to Mobile, in the seceding State of Ala-

On the 21st of February information of the exis tence of this conspiracy was conveyed to Mr. Lincoln at Philadelphia. The President declared his intention to fulfil his promise to raise the American flag on Independence Hall, and to meet the Legislature of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, and did so. After the reception at Harrisburg, on the 22d of February, he returned to his hotel, and left the city at 6 p. m. in a special train for Philadelphia. The Journal adds:

"The special train arrived in Philadelphia at a marter before il o'clock at night. Here he was met by the detective, who had a carriage in readiness into which the party entered, and were driven to the depot of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad. "They did not reach the depot until a quarter past 11; but fortunately for them, the regular train, the hour of which, for starting, was 11, had been delayed. The party then took berths in the sleeping car, and without change of cars, passed directly through to Washington, where they arrived at the usual hour, half-past 6, on the morning of Saturday, the 23d Mr. Lincoln wore no disguise whatever, but journeyed in an ordinary traveling dress."

The special messenger who was dispatched to Philadelphia to entreat Mr. Lincoln to proceed quietly to Washington was Mr. F. W. Seward, son of Secretary Seward. The detective officer traveled with Mr. Lincoln under the name of E. J. Alien, which name was registered with the President elect's on the books at Willards' Hotel. Being a well-known individual, he was speedily recognized, and suspicion naturally arose that he had been instrumental in exposing the plot which caused Mr. Lincoln's hurried journey. It was deemed prudent that he should leave Washington two days after his arrival, although he had intended to remain and witness the ceremonies of inauguration.

The Journal adds the following particulars: "The characters and pursuits of the conspirators were various. Some of them were impelled by a fanatical zeal which they termed patriotism, and they justified their acts by the example of Brutus in ridding his country of a tyrant. One of them was accustomed to recite passages put into the mouth of the character of Brutus in Shakspeare's play of Julius Cæsar. Others were stimulated by the offer of pecuniary reward. These, it was observed, staid away from their usual places of work for several w the intended assault. Although their circumstances had previously rendered them dependent on their daily labor for support, they were during the time abundantly supplied with money, which they squandered in bar-rooms and disreputable

" After the discovery of the plot, a strict watch was kept by the agents of detection over the movements of the conspirators, and efficient measures were adopted to guard against any attack which they might meditate upon the President elect until he was installed in office.

"The names of the conspirators will not at present be divulged. But they are in possession of responsible parties, including the President. "The number originally ascertained to be banded together for the assassination of Mr. Lincoln was twenty; but the number of those who were fully apprised of the details of the plot became daily smaller as the time for executing it drew near.

". Some of the women-employed by the detective went to serve as waiters, seamstresses, &c., in the families of the conspirators, and a record was regularly kept of what was said and done to further their enterprise. A record was also kept by the detective of their deliberations in secret conclave, but, for sufficient reasons, it is withheld for the present from publication. The detective and his agents regularly contributed money to pay the expenses of the conspiracy."
